REF: Request for establishing a new Student Chapter at the Politecnico di Torino

The students and the faculty members of the Petroleum Engineering Program of the Politecnico of Torino, Engineering Faculty, would be pleased to establish a new Student Chapter at their University to more extensively participate to and promote the SPE initiatives and activities among SPE members and future members.

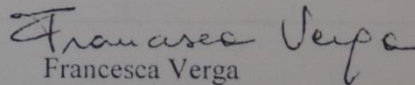

Please, find enclosed a copy of the requested documentation to establish a new Student Chapter: the Petition Form for SPE Student Chapter, the Faculty Sponsor Nomination Form, together with a biographical sketch of the nominee, and the Officer Report Form.

The sponsorship of the proposed chapter by the SPE Italian Section, signed by the Section Chairman, Mr. Innocenzo Titone, has already been sent by the SPE Italian Section. A copy of the original letter is attached.

Ref: Francesca Verga's biography

To whom it may concern:

Dr. Francesca Verga is Professor of Reservoir Engineering for the Petroleum Engineering Program at the Politecnico of Torino, Engineering Faculty, since 1999. She is technical leader of several research projects supported by oil and service companies. In 1998 she worked as a researcher in the Reservoir Engineering Department at the ENI-Agip E&P Division. Prior to joining the ENI-Agip E&P Division she operated in a consulting firm in Italy, where she gained an experience in both geotechnical and environmental engineering. She holds a M.Sc. in Civil Engineering (Hydraulics) and a Ph.D. in Geotechnical Engineering from the Politecnico of Torino. In 1994 and 1995 her Ph.D. program was developed under a grant of the National Science Foundation at the Colorado State University, Fort Collins, CO. She has authored papers in geotechnical and reservoir engineering concerned with soil characterization, underground contaminant migration, well testing, fractured reservoirs, reservoir simulation, and petrophysical characterization from well log data.

The Executive Committee of the SPE International

In the year 1993 the SPE Italian Section, at that time Adriatic Section, sponsored the formation of the SPE Student Chapter "Alma Mater Studiorum" of the University of Bologna.

In the year 2001 the Petroleum Engineering Faculty Students of the "Politecnico di Torino" are on the way of forming an SPE Student Chapter to be known as "Augusta Taurinorum".

The SPE Italian Section is very glad to provide sponsorship and to give full support for the educational activities of the Student Chapter "Augusta Taurinorum".

As Chairperson of the Italian Section I confirm the sponsorship and wish the best of success to the new Student Chapter.

SPE Italian Section Chairperson
Innocenzo Titone
